A MODERN EVE

*The Typist in T.S. Eliot's
The Waste Land*

by W. K. Brannigan

A radical new reading of The Waste Land, in which Eliot's typist as Eve is assaulted by the dark Adam of egoist modernity. See how the carbuncle gem in a London Temple and the carbuncle eyes of Milton's Satan relate to the will to power, the tyrant, and zealot anarchy inherent in the extreme individualism of Nietzsche, much influenced by Emerson.

"This is an excellent piece of scholarship: lively, subtle, illuminating and rigorous" (Professorial remarks on thesis).

978-1-7385265-0-5 • Paper, $20.00 • 265 Pages • Literary Criticism
Available on Amazon.

THE PRIMAL CHORUS OF THE SACRED GROVE

by W. K. Brannigan

The unity of the poem is further revealed as the struggle between anarchy and order continues, emerging at the primeval fireside with the genesis of the human ego. Read of polytheistic dance culture in the Bible and visit Baudelaire's cadaverous hanged Jesus. Hear the Adamic Proto-Indo-European language and witness the genesis of music and poetry as lustful Pan pursues the nymph Syrinx.

978-1-7385265-1-2 • Paper, $17.50 • 135 Pages • Literary Criticism
Available on Amazon.

WE NEED TO TALK

Conversations to Ease Fear and Suffering Surrounding End of Life
by David S. White

"The most challenging part of David White's calm, wise guide to end of life lies not in reading his book, but in opening it. It's human nature to avoid the shadows of our own demise until the last moment, when suitable options are at their scarcest. We all hope for a soft landing; the good medicine of We Need to Talk greatly improves one's chances of such an outcome."
